

June 9, 2011

“The Selwyn Rose Award, for Excellence in Drama” is given each year in memory of the father of Candice Rose, class of 1992. It recognizes the underclass student with the highest level of achievement in theater arts.

This year’s recipient worked on five productions this year alone. He can be found backstage as well as acting in a wide range of roles from Shakespeare’s elegant Theseus, to a desperate theatre producer, to even portraying a horse!

This hard working thespian often helps organize others as a stage manager or as the one who takes charge of all the moving of furniture and props between scenes. He often inspires the cast and crew with his energy and focus during the long hours of rehearsal.

Please congratulate with me, Mike Culhane.